

“India and the World, the World in India”

A seminar titled “India and the World, the World in India” was held at Alfonso X ‘El Sabio’ University in Madrid on 12 December, 2013.

The seminar was an attempt on part of the university to broaden the students’ knowledge about India and its international relations with focus on the present and potential relationship between India and Spain.

Students of the Department of International Relations of the University made presentations on the conceived stereotypes in India and the actual scenario as researched upon by them. After this, Ambassador, Shri Sunil Lal delivered a speech in which he presented the various dimensions of the current international relations of India. He specifically highlighted India’s role in the context of globalisation as we experience it today.

This was followed by an interactive Q & A session where Ambassador and Deputy Chief of Mission, Shri Biraja Prasad answered questions on the subject from students, faculty members and the audience in general.

The event concluded with a Bharatnatyam rendition by Ms. Sohini Roychowdhury, Director of ‘Sohini Moksha’ dance institute in Madrid.

Photographs of the event:

Ambassador and Deputy Chief of Mission interacting with Seminar Participants

A Student of the university making a presentation on India

A Student of the university making a presentation on India